Re: Emilio Ramos vs. United States
Dkt. Case No.'s Civil No. 04-11731-DPW
Civil No. 98-11857-DPW
Crim. No. 93-10253-DPW

Dear Judge Woodlock:

The above named defendant has been sentenced to 12 months of incarceration for a supervised release violation under docket No. 04-Cr. 240-ARR in the Eastern District of New York on April 7, 2005 before the honorable Allyn R. Ross.

The above named defendant has been awaiting to be designated by the Bureau of Prisons and just became informed by his case manager at MDC Brooklyn that defendant is pending to be transferred on Writ by U.S. Marshals to Boston Massachusetts.

Honorable Judge Douglas P. Woodlock
Re: Civil Action No. 04-CV-11731

The defendant has filed the above civil action Pro-Se by Section 2255 and requests that upon transfer to Boston Massachusetts that he be permitted to take with him all his legal and personal property for the following reasons:

Upon conviction by jury trial and denial by the Second Circuit Court of Appeals under docket No. 03-1515. See Summary Order enclosed. Defendant has a one year limitation to submit a Pro-Se Sub-Section 2255 appeal which has been pending due to be submitted by early October 2005.

Wherefore, defendant respectfully requests that all his legal and personal property be transferred by the U.S. Marshals along with him so he is able to continue working on his Pro-se appeal pending the outcome of the Writ and Return back to the Custody of the Bureau of Prisons. Upon a granting of this Order please provide a So Ordered copy to government Counsel, The U.S. Marshal Service Supervising the transfer and myself so there wont be any complications in transporting my property.

Respectfully Requested,

Dated: May 11, 2005
